

A close-up photograph of a large number of petunia flowers. The majority are a vibrant pink color, with some white flowers interspersed. The flowers are surrounded by lush green leaves and stems, creating a dense and colorful floral background. The text is overlaid in the upper portion of the image.

Genesis 08:07 And he sent forth a raven, which went forth to and fro, until the waters were dried up
from off the earth.