

Judges 05:09 My heart is toward the governors of Israel, that offered themselves willingly among the people. Bless ye the LORD.

The background of the image shows several thin, brown branches of a flowering plant, likely a redbud, covered in small, vibrant purple flowers. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, some fully open and others as buds. The branches are set against a soft, overcast sky, creating a gentle and naturalistic setting for the text.