

A photograph of several vibrant red chrysanthemum flowers in full bloom, set against a background of dark brown mulch and green foliage. The flowers are the central focus, with their numerous petals creating a rich, textured appearance. The lighting is natural, highlighting the deep red color of the petals.

Psalm 16:4 Their sorrows shall be multiplied that hasten after another god : their drink offerings of blood will I not offer, nor take up their names into my lips.